TO MEET WITH PRES. HARDING

Committee From Mine Workers In Capital Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Members of a committee appointed by the United Mine Workers of America at the convention held in Indianapolis, arrived in Washington today to ask President Harding to give protection to 138 miners who are being held as state prisoners in West Virginia jails and whose lives the union representatives assert are in jeopardy.

The committee accompanied by John Moore, of Ohio, who holds the proxy of John L. Lewis, president of the union in the national employment conference called up the White House early today and obtained an appointment with President Harding for later in the day. Questions involved in the negotiations of a new wage agreement between bituminous coal miners and operators to supplant that which expires next March will be considered by the coal committee of the national unemployment conference when it reconvenes next week, it was said today by conference officials.

The coal committee of which John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is a member, officials said will take into consideration all of the various factors involved in framing its recommendation for regularizing employment in the mines and the stabilization of the industry. The proposed new wage agreement is considered among these factors. It was said authoritatively however, that Secretary Hoover was not participating directly in any discussions between operators and miners on the question of the wage agreement as that was a matter for the special committee and the full employment conference when it should decide upon its permanent program for the economic betterment of the country.

Theatre Notes

At Nelson

"Bill" Russell, the big athletic William Fox star, was the attraction yesterday at the Nelson Theatre in his latest photoplay of western life, "Singing River."

Russell puts a fine "punch" into the picture; and the circumstances demand this "punch," for he has to cope with some very crooked chaps in his endeavor to live decently and make the life of Alice Thornton (Vola Vale) run smoothly.

Russell, battling his way to a worthwhile and honorable objective, is always entertaining. He was especially so yesterday, and the audiences at the Nelson Theatre seemed to enjoy the picture and Russell's work immensely.

A capable cast supports the Fox star. In addition Vola Vale there are Clark Comstock, Jack Roseleigh, Arthur Morrison, Jack McDonald, Jack Hull, Louise King, and Charles King. The story was written by Jules G. Furthman. Charles Gibby directed it.

At Princess

"Keeping Up With Lizzie" is enjoying a two day run to crowded houses at the Princess Theatre.

It's a splendid picture, splendidly presented—a credit both to the Rocket Film Corporation, which produced it, and to the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation, through whom it was released and distributed.

On the Monongahela division, B. & O. R. R., today there are 53 mines working; on the Monongahela, 13 and on the Western Maryland, 4. In the Pennsylvania district, Monongahela railway, there are twenty-four working while on the Charleston division, B. & O., there are 19 mines working today.

Mining Conditions.

Seventy mines are working in the Fairmont region today on the three railroads, which means that there are 225 operations down flat. On the Monongahela division, B. & O. R. R., today there are 53 mines working; on the Monongahela, 13 and on the Western Maryland, 4. In the Pennsylvania district, Monongahela railway, there are twenty-four working while on the Charleston division, B. & O., there are 19 mines working today.

Idle mines are scattered over the region as follows: Monongahela division, B. & O. R. R., 187; Western Maryland, 15; Monongahela, 53. There are 76 mines down on the Monongahela in Pennsylvania and 63 on the Charleston division, B. & O. R. R.

Empties in the region today aggregate 1,200 which is a stronger order than yesterday. Today's production should run real heavy. Mines along the B. & O. R. R. today ordered 825 empties while on the Monongahela there were 348 empties requested while on the Western Maryland there were 11 empties ordered. Export Cut in Half Curtis Bay shipments off the Monongahela Division, B. & O. R. R., last week were almost cut in half.

The week ending September 17th had developed some strength at 291 cars, but last week's aggregate dropped back to 158 with the encouragement at present of an early renewal of export business. Arlington Pier shipments at 42 cars last week showed a meagre loss of seven carloads.

Some Lake Tonnage

What may be regarded the last big lake shipment of the season before the bars are let down went off the Monongahela Division, B. & O. R. R. last week when the total reached 133 carloads or 101 cars heavier than the previous weeks. Several heavy daily shipments grouped the tonnage.

44 Per Cent to Railroads

Not since the week ending February 19th, has the railroad fuel tonnage off the Monongahela Division, B. & O. R. R., shown as great a strength—1239 cars as it did last week. It is self evident that the carriers are getting set to get sufficient coal at low prices and incidentally to have an adequate supply on hand should be a railroads' strike develop, which continues to be an unknown quantity at this time. The week ending February 19th struck a total of 1293 carloads. Only seven weeks in this year and all of them were in January and February exceeded the total aggregated on the division last week. Foreign carriers last week received 620 cars of coal while the B. & O. R. R. at 619 cars secured within one car as much as all of railroads secured here.

Railroad business, which is frequently cussed out when high prices reign, is a great boon these days, the trying ones of the coal industry, and the figures show that last week approximately 44 per cent of all the coal mined on the division last week went to the railroads.

Freight Movement Better

Some little improvement was noted in eastern coal loading last week when 2332 carloads went in that direction or 67 cars more than the previous week while westward the loading was 467 carloads or 132 loads stronger than the previous week.

Freight Investment Better

Actual improvement in coal as well as general freight movement was noted last week in the movement through the Grafton gateway of the B. & O. railroad. Last week there were 4770 general freight loads or a gain of 549 over the previous week while the actual coal loads at 3325 loads showed a gain of 623 carloads. This was the heaviest general freight movement since the week ending July 18th when it was 4983 cars, but the actual coal movement last week was stronger than any week since July 2nd, when the final rush of export business due to the British miners' strike was created that week's showing having been 4377 carloads.

More Mine Idleness

Last week there were 1169 mines idle on the Monongahela Division, B. & O. R. R., which is the greatest mine idleness since the last week in September. Last week's daily average was 195 against 199 during the week ending September 3rd.

Mines of Northern West Virginia last week loaded 282,200 tons or 3200 tons more than the previous week. That was the best showing since the week ending September 17th. Tonnage loaded last week was as follows: B. & O. System—Monongahela division, 12,800, a gain of

One thousand beauties passed in review before 150,000 people at the Atlantic City pageant. In that thousand none was more beautiful than Margaret Gorman, of Washington, according to a committee of judges headed by Howard Chandler Christy. She was awarded the Golden Marmalade, a trophy valued at $5,000. She also won the bathing beauty contest.

1500 tons over the previous week. Cumberland Division 11,850 tons, a gain of 2250 tons over the previous week; and the Charleston Division 12,800 tons, a loss of 1750 tons compared to the previous week. Western Maryland—Helen's Run, 14,700 tons, a loss of 1950 tons; Beltington & Northern, 8400 tons, a loss of 1950 tons; Morgantown & Wheeling Railway, 37,750 tons, a gain of 6050 tons; Monongahela, 49,750 tons, a loss of 14,800 tons.

Weekly Comparison

Fairmont region last week loaded more coal than it did for two weeks, but produced but thirty five carloads more than the previous week. Although the B. & O. gained 237 cars this was almost offset by a loss of 175 cars on the Monongahela and 27 on the Western Maryland. The corresponding week of October, 1921, the region produced 7617 cars or 2755 cars more than last week, production being on the road as follows: B. & O. 5555 cars; Monongahela, 1925 cars; Western Maryland, 43 cars. In the first week of October 1919, the B. & O. loaded 6883 carloads or 2995 cars more than last week.
